Pricing and services: Langon provdes video services for weddings, or other events too of course. We've recently had a great review of them on TK along with a link to the video, their pricing is very good, so may be worth checking out. I will of course add more information as I come across it. They have worked with Todd from Bently & Wilson before as well, so if you're looking for video/photo combo where the two vendors are familiar with each other, that's an added bonus.
